ANNUAL BANQUET TO FOLLOW INITIATION

Prof. W. E. Dodd to Address
Members on Historic Subject

Two students in the Arts and Sciences College and two graduates of the University were elected April 30 at a meeting of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, for initiation May 16. Clyde D. Crawley, Lexington, and Ivis Beulah Hovius, Covington, were selected for membership in the organization on the high standing which they have maintained during four years at the University. President H. L. Donovan, Eastern State College, and William H. Townsend, Lexington attorney and author of "Lincoln and His Wife's Home Town" were elected as alumnus and honorary members respectively.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest Greek letter fraternity in existence, having been founded at William and Mary College in 1776. Membership in the organization is achieved solely through outstanding work along scholastic lines. The membership is composed almost entirely of students and graduates of Arts and Sciences Colleges but anyone who has attained the high standards of the fraternity is eligible for membership. The organization now has 114 chapters throughout the nation. The chapter at the University was founded in 1926 and was the first and only chapter in Kentucky. The Kentucky chapter was the hundredth that has been added since the foundation of the fraternity and the seventh in the South Atlantic states.

The initiation ceremonies for the newly elected members will be followed by the annual banquet at the Palm Room of the Phoenix hotel. Prof. W. E. Dodd of the University of Chicago, will deliver an address on "History and Patriotism." Prof. Dodd is one of the most celebrated authorities of the present day on southern history and his work has received national recognition from our foremost educators. His address will be highly beneficial and it is expected that he will speak to a large audience. The public is invited to attend the banquet. Reservations can be secured from Prof. Jo Lewis Davis.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting. They are: Pres. T. T. Jones, Vice-Pres. Dr. G. K. Brady, Treas. Mary LeGrand Dildake, Sec. W. R. Allen. Retiring officers are: Pres. W. S. Webb, Vice-Pres. Mary Louis Marvin, Sec. W. R. Allen, Treas. J. E. Adams.

Council Selects Places in Which To Hold Election

The following places have been designated by the Men's Student Council where the election of members of the 1930-31 Council will take place at 4:00 p. m. today. The names of those elected will be turned over to the Dean of Men immediately.

The Junior class from the Agriculture and Arts and Science colleges will be unrepresented on the council for next year. From the six nominees elected by the freshmen and sophomore representatives, two will be chosen by the present council to represent the sophomore class. The election will be in charge of present members of the council.

Y. M. and Y. W. Members to Leave For Annual Retreat

Approximately forty-five members of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. will leave today for Camp Daniel Boone on the Kentucky river, where the annual retreat of these organizations of the University will be held. Margaret Lewis of the Y. M. C. A., and Bart Peak of the Y. W. C. A., are to supervise the retreat which will terminate Sunday afternoon.

The purpose of the camp retreat is to discuss the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. programs of the past year and to outline programs for the coming year. It is estimated that twenty-five members of the Y. M. C. A. and twenty members of the Y. W. C. A. will be in attendance.

RIFLE TEAM WINS HEARST TROPHY

R. O. T. C. to Receive Shield;
Each Member Will Receive
Medal, According to Officials

Officials of the R. O. T. C. unit of the University received a telegram May 6, stating that the University rifle team has won the South Section of the Hearst Trophy match. It was also announced that the rifle team received second position in competition with all rifle teams including those schools not having an R. O. T. C. unit. North Dakota Agricultural College received first prize.

Due to the fact that the University ranks highest in the South Section the University will be given a shield and each member of the team will get a medal. The University rifle team has enjoyed a most successful season and has lost only 1 or 2 telegraphic matches during the year. Captain H. W. Schmidt and Sergeant Bryant of the military department coached the team.

Members of the rifle team are: Lewis S. Payton, Lynch, Ky.; William Eades, Lexington; Austin M. Henderson, Ashland; Cecil Smith, Canada; and Clarence M. Christie, Lebanon.

William R. Hearst, who is sponsor of the intercollegiate matches, sent a telegram to the R. O. T. C. department and also to President McVey congratulating them upon the excellent marksmanship of the University team.

According to Captain Schmidt the rifle team is entered in the National Intercollegiate match which was held in April and in which their average was much higher than in the Hearst Match.

Medals will be awarded to members of the rifle team at the regimental parade Monday afternoon and a medal will be given to the "most improved" rifle shot of the team.

Theta Sigma Phi Initiates Journalists

Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic women's fraternity, held its initiation at 5:30 o'clock, May 6, in a private room of the Lafayette hotel. Misses Mary Virginia Haley, Ellen Minnihan, Dorothy Carr, and Edna Smith were inducted with Miss Virginia Schafer, who was the honorary sophomore member chosen this year.

After the initiation an informal banquet was given in the Red room. Those attending were: the active chapter, new initiates, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Miss Helen King, and Mrs. Martha Purcell, of Paducah, Ky., as guest.

Naturalists to Take Break o' Dawn University Special for Field Trip

The geology department has declared its annual field day and holiday for those students who are fortunate enough to have geology on their schedule cards and following a nine year custom, will take these students to Natural Bridge, where they will spend the entire day. The botany classes will be allowed to accompany the geology classes on the trip. Transylvania students have also expressed a desire to take advantage of this "back to nature" trip and are to climb aboard the special train Saturday morning at the break of dawn with the rest of the nature lovers, of which there are approximately 100.

A special train is chartered for the trip. This Natural Bridge, or should it be said University Special

JEAN LOWRY IS GOOD IN OUTSTANDING ROLE

"Table d'Hôte" Proves Interesting
Fare for Lexington Theatre-Goers

By THOMAS L. RILEY
Like a cream puff of the bakery variety—more puff than cream—is "Table d'Hôte," the current offering of the Guignol Players at the University's little theater.

Written by Frank Fowler and Marian Galloway and enacted by a well chosen cast, the comedy is probably the most entertaining fare that has been presented by the Guignol, for which the authors deserve praise.

"Table d'Hôte" is a comedy of manners of the English type transplanted to American soil and while much of the humor is forced and several of the characters are weak the play is one which amuses an audience with its utter bombast.

Jean Bullitt Lowry, in the role of Francine Farraday, many times divorced, is outstanding. Miss Lowry's character calls for expert shading and interpretation as she is neither coquette nor a vamp. However, she wrecks havoc with the affections of three men in the play and causes anguish from members of the feminine contingent.

Virginia Boyd impresses one in the chief comedy role. Miss Boyd is cast as the buxom aunt of Francine Farraday and the most humorous lines of the play are written into her script.

One of the most recent calls from the so-called phone ring was received by the Pi Kappa Alpha president. The caller stated that he was a freshman and that thus far no fraternity had sought to add his brilliant personality to its membership. He said that since he could evidently do no better he would accept a Pi Kap bid and that he would have his trunk sent around at once if the president was willing.

The conversation continued for more than half an hour—ending when central cut the conversation because both parties were using obscene language.

If in truth the lady was some well-meaning but ill-informed old person proprietors of the various shops believe that she has not repeated her calls either because she sobered up or was removed to the home for the care of the feeble minded.

All students whose parents, either father, mother or both, attended the University are requested to call the office of the Dean of Men immediately. This information is wanted for the University records.

Will pull out of the Union station at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, almost before the sun has swept the cobwebs from the sky and probably before some of the naturalists have become fully aware of the fact that they are bound somewhere. If the full quota of students make that train, it will be a fit subject for an entire University holiday, judging from the daily number of absences and tardies in first hour classes. We hope that none of the students will become fatigued from running after the train when it leaves Lexington in the morning, and that none of these students will be left at Natural Bridge, for that is a very lonely place, when one is alone so far from home. No one seems to be sure when the human

HORTICULTURE COURSE TO BEGIN ANNUAL MEET

Round Table Discussion Will Follow Talks by McVey
and Hathaway

The third Annual Garden Day program, sponsored by the Lexington Garden Club and the University Extension Department, will be held on the campus today starting at 10:30 and continuing until 4:00 p. m. The day begins with an intensive course in Horticulture at the Experiment Station. A visit to the Johnston solar laboratory greenhouses is in charge of Dean Anderson. This laboratory is unique in that it is the only one of its kind in the country. The party will then drive through the University farm and vineyard, Mr. E. J. Kinney leading.

Mrs. Edward Clark, president of the Lexington Garden Club, will preside at the luncheon in Boyd Hall. President McVey and Miss Hathaway will give short talks followed by a round table discussion led by Mrs. F. A. Willis, of Paris, Kentucky.

At 3:00 p. m. in the Guignol Theater art center, Mrs. W. T. Laferty will introduce Dean Stanley Coulter of Purdue University, who will present "Trees." Dean Coulter's talk is considered a prose poem. Dean Coulter is thoroughly versed in the knowledge of trees and park shrubs.

From the Guignol Theater the group will walk the University's famous botanical gardens. This garden has been started by the joint efforts of the Lexington Garden Club and the University Extension Department and has been encouraged by the wide spread interest manifested, and by contributions of both plants and money. Nurserymen in Kentucky and elsewhere have been very generous, and already the planting is well worth studying. It is planned to include eventually our native trees, shrubs and wildflowers, as well as various introduced species.

President and Mrs. McVey have invited all of the representatives to a 4:00 o'clock tea at Maxwell Place. The complete day program is as follows:

10:30-12:00—Experiment Station building, Intensive Course in Horticulture: N. R. Elliott, A. J. Olney, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Dildake, W. A. Price and W. D. Valleau.

Gaming Charges
Believed To Be A Practical Joke

The golden voiced and virtuous lady who called several of the confectioneries adjacent to the campus last week and threatened police interference if gambling on their premises was not prohibited is believed to be one of the less lovely inhabitants of Pat Hall. The calls to the collegiate gathering places were similar in many respects to those which have been received by many of the men students summoning them to student council meetings. It is believed that a circle of misguided humorists has but recently discovered the possibilities of the telephone.

One of the most recent calls from the so-called phone ring was received by the Pi Kappa Alpha president. The caller stated that he was a freshman and that thus far no fraternity had sought to add his brilliant personality to its membership. He said that since he could evidently do no better he would accept a Pi Kap bid and that he would have his trunk sent around at once if the president was willing. Plan of Rafinesque Culminates In Growth of Botanic Gardens

By LAWRENCE SHROPSHIRE

Almost in the very shadows of the athletic ramparts where thousands of persons cheer the Wildcat teams in combat, and extending along the campus paths where hundreds of students daily pass as they hurry to and from classes, lies, for the most part, unnoticed and unappreciated, the Kentucky Botanic Garden. A miracle for its naturalness, it is a haven for lovers of nature, a veritable paradise for botanists.

In the center of the great educational plant where all of the modern facilities function, and surrounded by the hum and bustle of the present-day industrial existence, the garden is growing, a living tribute to the Lexington Garden Club and the cooperating University committee. A spot where the Blue Grass vegetation shares its rains and sunshine with shrubs and hardy evergreens from barren mountain-sides, where the rhododendrons and pennycuik grow side by side and nod in neighborly fashion though transplanted from distant parts of the state, the Garden is just beginning its beautiful and educational usefulness.

Primarily "organized for the advancement and diffusion of a knowledge and love of plants," the Garden comprises approximately seven acres of ground between White hall and the athletic field

COACHING SCHOOL IS DISCONTINUED

Decreased Allowance of Financial Support for Summer Session by Legislature Is Cause of Drop

Due to the decreased allowance of financial support for the regular summer school by the state legislature during its last session, the coaching school which has been conducted by Coach Gamage for the past two summers, and which has proved to be of much valuable assistance to the many coaches throughout the state, will be discontinued this year.

Although the summer coaching school has been held only twice in the past, it has proved to be very popular with the various coaches throughout the state and has been well attended each time. It is the plan of Coach Gamage and athletic director "Daddy" Boles to reestablish this part of the summer term as soon as the University financial means will permit.

Just at present it is the plan of Coach Gamage to leave off the matter of coaching or assisting in any of the summer schools that are giving coaching courses throughout the country and rest up for a real campaign and the task of bringing the Wildcats throughout the next season undefeated.

Seniors, Get Your 1930 Kentuckians!

Seniors who have not received their copies of the Kentuckian from the book store are urged to do so immediately, according to an announcement received at the Kernel office this week. There are many copies of the annual yet not called for. Editor Couch said yesterday. All seniors who have paid their graduation fee of $12 have paid for their Kentuckian, the announcement read. Several of the present graduating class did not know of this, and as a consequence failed to obtain their copy of the book.

The books will be distributed at the Campus Book Store each afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30.

PHI DELTA PHI GIVES DINNER AT LAFAYETTE

Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity, entertained the senior members with a dinner Tuesday night in the colonial room of the Lafayette hotel. Red roses and red tapers were used to carry out the color scheme. The dinner was preceded by the initiation of Mr. Charles Summers.

Herald Editors to Become Reckless As Students Will Edit Annual Issue

By PAT RANKIN
There comes a time in the life of every individual and some organizations when they break loose from the decorous monotony of actual life and treat themselves to an orgy of carelessness, recklessness and unqualified liberty.

The Lexington Herald prepares to indulge itself in such pleasures when it turns the management of the paper over to the journalistic students of the colleges of central Kentucky May 13. Wilbur Fry, editor of the Kentucky Kernel, will be editor-in-chief; Fred Dial, editor of the Eastern Progress, Eastern Teachers' College, will be managing editor; Vernon Rooks, sports editor of the Kernel, will occupy the same position on the and extends from the Armory through to Rose street. Not all of the plot has yet been developed to the extent proposed by its sponsors, the section adjacent to the President's home and the new library building site maintaining the character of an arboretum where all of the more familiar varieties of native Kentucky trees are growing.

The western end of the plot is the most interesting, and at the present, the best developed of the project. This has been converted into a rock garden, whose paths and walks along its terraced slopes are most enticing to visitors at the University. At the very entrance, where a beautiful stone gateway has been constructed, stands a prize exhibit of botanists. It is a Royal Paulownia, a native Japanese tree similar to the catalpa, which is now found growing along the Kentucky cliffs. Under its swaying purple blossoms is an artistic, rustic bulletin wherein acknowledgments are made to various nurserymen in this and nearby states who have generously contributed plants to the development of the garden.

The rock garden takes up the whole of the hill-side, which has been specially treated with peat and aluminum sulphate providing the soil with acid necessary for the growth of mountain plants. Rhododendrons and azaleas thrive here in abundance while larches, several species of junipers, arbutus, and other representatives of cedar and pine evergreens and shrubs lend an atmosphere and aspect to their natural habitat. Flowering crabs, cotoneasters, sedums, viburnums—all grow with reckless abandon among the rocks. It is as if a section of one of Kentucky's magnificent mountain ridges had been transplanted bodily to its campus home.

ENGINEERS MAKE INSPECTION TRIP

Manufacturing Centers of North and East Visited as Practical Side of Engineering
Is Studied by 63 Seniors

With Commencement Day almost at hand, approximately sixty-three seniors of the College of Engineering are visiting manufacturing centers of the north and east May 7 to 17 for the purpose of additionally acquainting themselves with the practical side of engineering. The party accompanied by Deans F. Paul Anderson and W. E. Freeman and Profs. D. V. Terrell, L. S. O'Bannon and J. B. Decker left Lexington Wednesday.

Arriving, Thursday, in Detroit, in the two specially provided sleeping cars, the party visited the Fordson, the River Rouge and the Dearborn plants of the Ford Motor Co. At Dearborn the Ford Airport was also inspected.

Today, the group will visit the Yellow Coach and Manufacturing Company and the General Motors Proving Grounds, and tonight, will be guests at the Detroit Alumni banquet at the Book-Cadillac.

Saturday, the engineers will observe the Detroit and Windsor Tunnel now under construction. Later they will visit the Parke-Davis Drug Company and the Fisher Building.

Arriving at Niagara Falls, Sunday, the party will spend a leisurely day of sight seeing.

Monday, the Niagara Falls Power company, the United States Light and Heat corporation and the Aluminum company of America's plants will be inspected.

Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday will be spent in and around Buffalo inspecting the industries there and, Thursday evening, the party will be guests at the Buffalo Alumni Club banquet.

Friday, in New York City, the engineers will take a steamer trip around Manhattan Island, and, that evening, will be entertained at the New York Alumni Club dinner dance.

Herald; Frances Holliday, managing editor of the Kernel, will be state editor; while Edwards Templeton will be telegraph editor. Kernel reporters, who have been assigned their beats will be assisted by the representatives of the other College papers, Alpha Delta Sigma, University advertising fraternity, will assist the regular Herald staff. The students of the other colleges are engaged in soliciting advertisements for this issue of the Herald.

When it is over the Herald will resume its daily activities of editing a decent paper in a respectable manner. The students will return to their class rooms, delighted with the experience like a child with a new toy.

Women's Gymnasium, Athletic Field and Four Tennis Courts to Be Used

The Women's Athletic Association of the University is sponsoring its second annual play day tomorrow in which approximately 100 delegates from five colleges in Kentucky and the University of Cincinnati are expected to participate. The program will begin at 1 o'clock and last all afternoon, climaxed at 6:30 by the fifth annual W. A. A. banquet at the Lafayette Hotel.

The colleges which will be represented are Georgetown College, Kentucky College for Women, Berea College, Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College, the University of Cincinnati and the University of Kentucky. Transylvania College, Morehead State Normal School, Asbury College and Western Kentucky State Teachers' College may be represented also.

The first play day in the state was sponsored by the athletic association last year, following the movement started by leading institutions throughout the country to provide a substitute for the varsity competition which women in most colleges have abandoned, and to promote healthful athletics for women and friendly intercourse between the colleges of this and neighboring states.

The general plan for a play day is to play with the colleges instead of against them, and for this the participants will be divided into six groups, which will compete in baseball, cage ball, archery, horse-shoe pitching and individual challenges, featuring tennis.

The women's gymnasium and athletic field will be used and tennis courts have been reserved. A certain number of points will be given for winning each event and at the end of the day individual prizes will be awarded the members of the winning team. The program follows:

1:00—Registration and assembly, women's gymnasium.
1:45—Group picture.
2:45—Inter-group competition in cage ball, baseball, archery, horse-shoe pitching and individual challenges (featuring tennis), women's gym and athletic field and tennis courts.
6:30—W. A. A. banquet, Lafayette Hotel.

Organizations to Have Club Rooms

Department of Buildings and Grounds Building Will Be New Site

The movement set on foot by Mortar Board, Senior women's honorary, to obtain a meeting place on the campus for the various women's organizations, has finally culminated in a definite proposal from President Frank L. McVey and Dean Sarah Blanding, according to Mrs. Lolo Robinson, chairman of the committee appointed by Mortar Board to look into the matter. According to the tentative plan, the cottage east of White hall, at present housing the carpenter shops and offices of the Superintendent of Grounds, will be evacuated in the fall of 1931 when the new central plant for the Superintendent of Grounds is completed, and it will then be remodeled into women's club rooms.

It is probable that the building will be divided into a number of small committee rooms, each assigned to an individual organization and arranged to care for their equipment. A large reception room, with a piano and other accessories, will be available for open meetings and informal teas. A schedule will be worked out, so that meetings of various organizations will not conflict, and a hostess will be in constant attendance.

Although the building will be preeminently for women students only, such organizations as Strollers and the departmental clubs will probably be housed there too.

MOTHER

If all the mothers in all the world
Were half so kind and sweet as she,
My, what a different world
This old world would really be!

O! If in the smallest measure
I might feel that I could help
The one who brings me pleasure
With so little thought of self.

Little wonder that I answer
From this heart of mine,
"You are the best of mothers,
Living just a life sublime!"

CO-ED PLAY DAY

Tomorrow the Woman's Athletic Association of the University is sponsoring the second annual play day for the women of Kentucky colleges and the University of Cincinnati. The purpose of this day is to promote women's athletics by playing with instead of in competition to neighboring colleges.

That the co-eds of today, may have a well-rounded education, W. A. A. seeks to supply participation in sports on this day, completing the physical side of a year's program. Abandonment of co-ed varsity competition has been followed by this method.

The use of the play day plan of athletics and the lead which has been taken by the University is to be commended. Co-ed varsity competition has proven far from satisfactory, in many ways. Lack of interest in co-ed sports, both on the part of spectators and participants, has shown the futility of further promotion of such sports.

Cooperation of Kentucky Colleges in making this day a success has been excellent. Women from K. C. W., Georgetown, Berea, Eastern, and the University of Cincinnati will be here tomorrow to join with the co-eds from the University in an effort to make this day's activities worthwhile and enjoyable.

Closer friendship and a feeling of relationship among the co-eds of neighboring colleges will result from these meetings. Common problems, likes, and dislikes will serve to raise the aims and ambitions of the co-eds of the State as a whole.

The variety of sports offered on the day's program serves to extend an invitation and temptation to every girl to join with the others in making this play day a tremendous success.

REBELLION FROM COMPULSION

Pressure has been administered to force the Co-eds to recognize a privilege which has been robbed of its zest by this pressure. Minds have been closed which under ordinary circumstances would have been open. This pressure has been brought to bear by deducting one-tenth from the standing of any co-ed who fails to attend a compulsory meeting.

It is generally accepted that persons of college age are old enough to know their own interests and to recognize opportunity when it knocks. By allowing college students to choose their courses the fact that they are capable of knowing what they are interested in and what type of knowledge they are searching for is automatically accepted.

There will be no one to go through their own individual lives deducting one-tenth from their standing when they fail to see a privilege or prefer to substitute another one for the one offered. The one who loses is enough the loser without having an extra loss conferred upon her.

Values are not learned by force. When college is over, graduates will be expected to make their own judgment and to rely upon it; not on the judgment of someone who will punish them if they fail to act as that person would have acted under similar circumstances.

Force in such matters is offensive to the persons subjected to it, for it seems an inference that they are not mentally capable of recognizing things of interest to the mind and valuing them accordingly. Under such circumstances a very evident feeling of rebellion results. This has occurred at the two women's assemblies.

Force has compelled a large audience to be physically present at these assemblies. A great number of these audiences have been in open rebellion to the speaker. Practically half of them could not hear due to the seating arrangements and many more were deafened by the continual distractions surrounding them. In the audience were many who were vitally interested in the lectures and who were deprived of receiving full value from them.

Under the existing conditions a few interested listeners would be more satisfactory than a house crowded with an insincere audience. It is unfair to those who are interested to burden them with disadvantages, and it is impolite to present a rebellious audience to a visiting speaker.

DELOS E. NOOE

The Kernel is in receipt of a book carrying the names of the 1930 graduates of the department of journalism of the Texas State College for Women, located at Denton. This brochure sets out the names of seven young women whom the college recommends for professional work in journalism.

Incidentally it is a matter of pride to the Kernel that the head of the Denton department of journalism is Delos E. Nooe, a graduate of the University of Kentucky department of journalism, former prominent member of the Kernel staff and one the University's master degree graduates of the year 1927.

Mr. Nooe was an honor student in the department of journalism at the University of Kentucky and showed unusual aptitude and interest in this subject. After he had graduated from the University, he went to Denton, Texas, where he immediately set about the founding of a department of journalism patterned after that from which he was graduated.

A pretty little story is apropos the case of Mr. Nooe. The Women's College at Denton, was casting about for a suitable instructor to install a department of journalism. In a letter to the Kentucky department of journalism, the request was made for recommendation for a man trained at this institution. This letter requested that above all things "the applicant be a gentleman" as he was expected to teach in a women's college. Mr. Nooe was at once recommended as such a man. Indeed it is a pleasure to the Kernel to recall that he was eminently a gentleman.

Mr. Nooe was a student of that particular type that was obsessed with his work. He not only handled news and editorial matter for the Kernel but he operated a linotype machine in the Kernel's shop and made his way entirely through the University of Kentucky by work he did on the Kernel's linotype machines, supplemented at times by similar work in the city printing plants.

The Kernel is gratified at the success that has come to its former comrade.

R. O. T. C. PRAISED

The Kernel offers congratulations to the University R. O. T. C. unit for the words of warm commendation given the unit by Lieut. Col. E. N. Bowman at the completion of his inspection of the regiment last week. In speaking of the unit as one of the best he had inspected in his official capacity, the officer gave only the recognition which Major Meredith and his assistants deserve for their sincere and wholehearted work in the department of military science during the past year.

Despite whatever opposition there may be to military science on the campus, the fact that officers who have been placed here from year to year are of the highest caliber in leadership and interest cannot be questioned. Each year the University receives favorable publicity through the reports of the inspecting officers who visit our campus, and through the work of the rifle team and allied military science activities. Under the present regime such work bids fair to be extended even further than ever before, and the unit more and more each year justifies its position on the campus of a growing university.

THE STUDENT EDITION

The annual student edition of The Lexington Herald this year will be published the morning of Wednesday, May 14. The Herald management has invited journalists from all of the colleges of central Kentucky to participate in the edition, so that they may gain in knowledge of the practical side of newspaper editing.

Those who read The Herald on Wednesday morning of next week will see mistakes not commonly found in the columns of the paper, and they will observe stories and viewpoints divergent from the practical work done by the regular staff of the paper. But there also will be knowledge derived therefrom for the benefit of those students who do work on that edition.

The Kernel, as one of the student papers invited to assist in the annual student publication, is grateful for this opportunity to try in practice what has been taught to us in theory in the classrooms. Just how well we apply theory to practice remains to be seen, but it can be said now that the courtesy and interest of The Herald in student journalists of the colleges of central Kentucky is highly commendable and should be deeply appreciated by all those likewise interested in student welfare and advancement.

A MEMORY TRUNK

It was the trunk I took to school;
Ten years have passed since then, but now
I open it again to find
It full of memories of old
Forgotten days when I had hopes
Of being something great and fine.

There on the topmost layer lay
The diaries I kept in books
Green-backed and rough so as to hide
My secret thoughts from prying friends.
What fun 'twould be could they but know
The curious things I wrote of them!

Next came the letters not a few
Received from those who promised true
And then forgot and did not write.
Gay ribbons once were round them tied
But they have faded and are now
As dim as memories of the past.

A box that was painted black
Contained the ribbons and the pin
By which I came to be connected
With a certain well-known frat.
I thought it was the greatest thing
That could be had in that great school.

A program for a dance shown out
Above the rest, and I saw names
Of those with whom I danced and then
Forgot before the jazz had stopped.
I worried then when I didn't get
A corsage like the rest of them.

Beneath it all a picture lay
All stained and marred by use and tears.
A misty film came in my eyes.
A fool I was to open that Old trunk! I jammed down the lid
And pushed it back into the dust.

Annual Positions Open to Students

According to an announcement by Rex Allison, editor-in-chief of the 1931 Kentuckian, there are several editorial positions still vacant on the newly created staff for next year's edition. Mr. Allison expressed the desire that he would be glad if more sophomores and juniors would become interested and report for positions.

William Young, business manager of the 1931 edition, has reported a need for a number of applicants on the business and advertising staffs and would like to see all students interested in such work at once.

World War Heroes and Kentuckian Staff Featured in Greatest Annual

By PAT RANKIN

Hoory! The annual is out! Never in the history of the University, or any other University for that matter, has there been such a dazzling display of beauties and near beauties in one publication. It rivals the pictorial section of a metropolitan newspaper, or the Kentucky Progress Magazine.

We are told that it is the greatest Kentuckian ever published and we believe it. It would be the rankiest heresy to doubt a word of this obvious truth. But upon examination we find that last year's Kentuckian was also the greatest that had ever been published. The same was true of the one before and on back as far as Kentuckians were published, but this one enjoys an advantage that was not the privilege of those others. It was published this year. Annuals have a way of being the best. It is their great fault, and the bete noir of our existence.

At the outset the managers made an important bid for popularity. Presumably it was dedicated to the heroes of the World War. Do not be mistaken, gentle reader. The dimish their fame by such an untoward step. On close reading it will be disclosed that it is not only dedicated to the heroes, but to the "peacemakers during the war" and almost everyone in existence. That is a subtlety that even France himself could never perform.

There you are. They not only include those who actively participated and got themselves shot, or crowned with glory and muck, but they also included those brave radicals who went to prison, or who dissipated propaganda for the glory of peace and liberty.

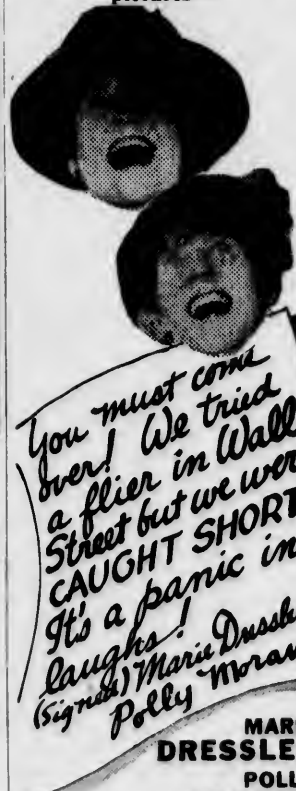

It is the duty of every student to avail himself of an opportunity to purchase an annual. Please do not be so mendacious as to borrow one. It isn't done. And if you take this attitude you will be a detriment to the finances of the organization. Therefore it is your duty to buy one, take it home with you, place it in a safe depository and in the spring time of every year take it out and observe your popularity. Of course, you run the very great disadvantage of being unpopular, and not having your picture in the publication more than five or six times, but that is your fault. You should have joined the Y. M. C. A. been its president, delegate to its various conferences, secretary to this and that:

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to send humidor tin.—Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

if you haven't you should have belonged to enough organizations to entitle you to at least ten different pictures in the Annual, having done this you may safely feel that your four years at this University have not been wasted.

Of course you might not be able to persuade some competent business man to this way of thinking, but it is a platitude among collegiate circles that business men are stupid beasts anyway.

Another argument for purchasing this book is that it gives one an opportunity for learning the names of all those familiar faces that one speaks to each day. It is to be regretted that the Annual was not published at the beginning of the year instead of this end of it for then we would have known all of those people, and called them by their first names. Think of the embarrassment it would have eliminated.

WILLIAM ARDERY

Amid the cheers of his many pals and palletes, Wyman Thomason led practically all the way in the half mile event in the track meet against Sewanee the other day. At the finish however it was the gentleman from the South who flashed to victory. It is reported that Wyman's defeat was due to a slight touch of "jake leg" which he developed at the gingham dance. After his noble defeat Wyman retired from the no longer admiring multitude to support his shapely head in his ten fingers and to permit gall and wormwood to have their way with his stout heart. Several of our cruder humorists saw him as he sat in the most utter dejection and forthwith formulated a plan to ease the conscience of this vanquished hero. A tinted son of the purple dusk was summoned and was told that he would be paid one dime, cash money, if he would go up to Wyman, embrace him with his arm and whisper sweet words of comfort and encouragement into his shell pink ear. The dusky one at first assented and then doubt seemed to spread over his features. "Boss," said he, "I've gotta see dis man befo I comforts him." The humorists agreed, feeling sure that Wyman's fair physiognomy would offer no hindrance to the plan. The ebullient gazed long and steadily at the trackster's noble visage and returned with these words: "Boss you is offerin' me a dime fo' a million dollah job."

One of Andrew Hoover's pro's refers to him as "President."

We are told that the Kernel news room will be divided in half in the near future because there are never more than one or two students in it. Acting on this principle, the

BANQUET PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

Law Students and Faculty to Hear Judge Simeon S. Willis at Annual Affair to Be Held on May 12

The annual Law College banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock Monday night, May 12, at the Phoenix hotel. Judge Simeon S. Willis, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, will be the principal speaker.

The program committee, headed by A. J. Asher, senior, assisted by Charles Reidinger, junior, and John C. Bagwell, first year, invites students to bring their mothers, wives or young lady friends to the banquet.

Annual banquets have been given by the Law College for several years, but the guests, in former years, have been limited to members of the school and faculty and a few members of the local bar. For the past two years Dean Evans has been giving the students of the Law school the opportunity and privilege of hearing discussions of interesting problems in the law by leading lawyers and judges throughout the state.

The endeavor reached its highest success in the program of the Law College banquet last year, when the students and guests had the opportunity of hearing such leading members of the profession as Judge Thomas B. McGreggor, Judge Robert G. Gordon, of Louisville, and Judge David A. McCandless, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals.

The program committee in charge of the banquet last year, under the direction of A. J. Asher, chairman, inaugurated the idea of adding to the list of guests the wives of the faculty and students, the mothers of the students, and the young lady friends of those who wished to attend. The success of this proposal was seen in the attendance of more than one hundred guests, faculty and students, which was a great increase over the attendance of former years.

Authorities might do well in dividing some of our classrooms into above 10 parts.

Our eyes have quite recovered from the dazzling array of beauty that was presented to the admiring multitude on May Day. Our ears have not quite ceased burning from the many, many uncomplimentary comments on our daring exposure of the May Queen and king.

We suddenly have become conservative after last week's mess and will refrain from relating a little story about a Tri-Delt, a lonely road, a charming gentleman, a cop and a marriage license. With all those hints you can make up the story for yourself.

Kelly's new car proved quite a problem to the Tavern fifth slingers for several days. Finally one of them crashed through with the solution that there are a lot of old men in this town who have great rock piles and strong admiration for football players.

Our correspondent at Washington and Lee gives us this one—One of the young lawyers who had celebrated the festivities of the evening a little more than was his wont retired with a lighted cigarette between his lips. He lapsed at once into that serene state which is Bacchus' one gift to inebriates but was suddenly awakened by a rather warm and unpleasant sensation which had its source in the burning mattress. The odor of the smoke and heat thoroughly displeased him, so, seizing the remainder of a quart of gin, he staggered out in his partially burned pajamas to the room of a friend where he spent the remainder of the night in the most sublime slumber.

Daughter (embracing father)—Daddy, you are a perfect dear, aren't you?
 Father—Well, if it's more than ten dollars I'm not.

'Cat Tracksters To Enter North With U. C. Meet

Big Blue Enters Fifth Match With Three Wins to Its Credit

By SAM ALLEN

The Wildcat track team will invade the northland for the first time this year when they meet the Bearcats of Cincinnati U. Saturday afternoon. The Big Blue boasts a powerful outfit but it expects plenty of trouble in its clash with the Buckeye thunders. The Cincinnati cinder merchants defeated the Georgetown Tigers by a much safer margin than did Kentucky tracksters earlier in the season. This will be the fifth dual meet for the 'Cats who have won three out of four starts decisively. The Tennessee Vols turned the tables and sent the 'Cats home with the lesser end of a 68 to 49 count.

"Shipwreck" Kelly and "Hurricane" Heber have been battling it out in the century with Kelly having a slight edge on the Newport lad. Kelly is high man on the team, having won three firsts in every meet this year. Coach Shively pulled the surprise act when he entered Kelly in the 440-yard run at Knoxville. The Springfield flash came through in a pleasing manner and captured first place. However, Heber has been pushing him plenty and a great race is promised whenever the two boys tie up. The time has been 10 seconds flat.

JONES TAKES WINGS

The 220-yard dash finds a running mate for Kelly in Clyde Jones. Jones has just recently been placed in the shorted sprints, his specialty being the 440-yard run. In this event, Jones is paired up with Ruttenclutter. The former has the advantage and has been running the distance in approximately 51 seconds most of the time. Thorne is another promising quarter-mile candidate. Wayman Thomasson, pride of "Hoptown" has had things pretty much his own way in the half-mile until recently when Captain Owens was placed in this event. The distance is a bit short for Owens but he runs Thomasson a close second in approximately 2 minutes.

In the 220-yard low hurdles "Whitely" Wienman usually shows his heels to his teammate, Williams, on a straight course, but the latter is a glutton for curves and can usually outdistance Wienman on the turn. Their time has been running close to 25 seconds. In the high hurdles Cavana and Shipley are almost a toss up for honors as they struggle for supremacy. They have been clocked at 16 seconds.

OWENS PUSHES JERRY

"Scaley" Roberts and Bob Porter take the field in the high jump. Roberts has not yet been able to reach the form he had in high school when he cleared the bar at 6 feet for the state title but he may increase his altitude before the season draws to a close. Freddy McLane received a sprained ankle at the start of the year and has been an onlooker since. Kelly and Porter are paired up in the broad jump.

The former has been doing around 22 feet quite consistently all year. The pole vault is another question mark as Gibson and Porter alternate in sharing the honor. "Buddy" Cavana has been tossing the javelin around 154 feet to best his nearest rival, Heber. "Babe" Wright, the Sturgis mountain, recently heaved the shot to a new University record of 41 feet, 8 inches. He has a worthy second in "Floppy" Farquer, captain of next year's football team. Wright, Andrews and Hicks form the discus triumvirate with "Babe" acting as chairman.

A quartet composed of Jones, Thomasson, O'Bryant and Captain Owens won the 2-mile relay at the Georgia Tech relays in Atlanta. After the Cincinnati meet, Coach Bernie Shively will groom his charges for the Southern Conference meet to be held in Birmingham, May 17.

Intramural Track Meet On Stoll Field Today

Kentucky Thinlies Journey To Cincinnati Saturday for Last Dual Meet of Season

The last lap of the race for intramural honors will begin this afternoon when representatives of the various fraternities meet on Stoll field for the annual intramural track meet. The boys have been practicing hard and according to their managers are fit, and ready to give a good account of themselves. It is the plan of Sid Robinson, intramural director, to run off all of the track events this afternoon if possible. The preliminaries in the sprints and hurdles events were disposed of yesterday with each fraternity getting a good share of hold-overs for today's finals.

At a preliminary practice meet held April 26 quite a few of the teams showed to good advantage and plenty of competition is expected when the teams meet this afternoon. Among the teams that attracted attention in the practice meet held earlier in the season were the Lambda Chi's, Kappa Sig's, S. A. E.'s, Delta, Delta Chi's, A. T. O.'s and Sigma Beta Xi's.

About 30 contestants who took advantage of the preliminary meet. With the exception of Mains, Phi Sig, whose 37 feet 6 inch shot put, which is not bad for I. M. distance, nothing of exceptional calibre was shown in the meet. However, the many afterwards of practice that the contestants have been getting in, due to the good weather, was evident in the form displayed by the boys.

In tennis more than 130 entries have been made in the singles, while approximately 60 entries were made in the doubles. Of these, only about half of the matches have been played. Coach Robinson announced that all matches must be played on scheduled time in order to get the tournament over in time for the point winners to count their points toward their I. M. standing for the year.

80 GOLF ENTRIES
There are 80 entries in the golf tournament which has reached the quarter finals, and is expected to be one of the first of the I. M. sports to be finished. The past-timers of the old Scotch game have also been taking advantage of the ideal weather conditions and as a result have been turning in some good scores.

The little matter of who is, or rather WHO WAS, the singles champion for last year was settled this week when De Garis, Delta Chi, won over Kelley, S. A. E., in a belated match that was left over from last year.

The diamond ball league is under way with the teams divided up into two divisions and games are being played regularly every afternoon on the drill field and the Woodland park diamond. Just now the Alpha Sigs and the A. T. O.'s are leading in this division with no losses chalked against them, but they are being hard pressed by the other teams and will have to step out plenty if they expect to hold their lead.

The diamond ball league has been divided into two divisions as follows:

MAKE LAST RUN AT BIRMINGHAM

Capt. Hayes Owens and Wyman Thomasson who are two of Coach Shively's most dependable track men will make their last appearance under the Blue and White of the University when they take part in the Southern Conference track meet to be held at Birmingham, May 16 and 17. Much of the success of Kentucky's thinlies on the cinder path this season is due to these two sterling performers, who will not soon be forgotten by loyal students of old Kaintuck.

ST. XAVIER TEAM DEFEATS U. K. GOLFERS

Only two more matches remain on the present schedule of the Wildcat golfer who have enjoyed only indifferent success in their matches this season. The two remaining meets are with Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester on May 17 and a final game with St. Xavier of Cincinnati whom they will meet on the Ashland Country Club course May 20. The St. Xavier putters were victorious in a match held there last week by the score of 8 to 10.

Fresh from their victories over the Winchester varsity and freshman golf teams the University of Kentucky golfers are busy preparing for matches to be held in the near future.

The varsity golfers have about halved their matches this spring and with a little luck can be expected to win a majority of their remaining meets. The team composed of William Maxson, Kenneth Larmee, William Buskie, and William Lusk went down before an avalanche of birdies and pars in their initial match with Vanderbilt. The entire Vanderbilt team shot the hazardous Nashville course just two over par. Though badly beaten, the U. of K. boys did not take their defeat badly, as Vanderbilt probably would have defeated the best golf team in the country on that particular day.

Coming back strong last Saturday the Kentucky boys handed out a nice trimming to the Winchester outfit. It was a complete victory as Kentucky won both the medal and match play. To make the day a perfect one for the U. of K. golfers, the freshman team, composed of Freddy Hardwick and W. R. Meredith, also succeeded in clipping the Winchester freshmen.

Hardwick and Meredith have been turning in low scores all season and next year these two lads should strengthen the varsity considerably. Matches in the near future will be held with Winchester, a return engagement with St. X, and May 30 they will enter the state tournament. Coach Jones is depending on his charges to win this tournament and it is certain that they will go to the first tee as favorites.

KENTUCKY FROSH DEFEATS IRVINE

Greenies Win Slugging Contest in Game Featured by Errors; Aldridge Relieves Ellis in Fifth

A hitting orgy coupled with a shower of errors in which both teams played a conspicuous part, featured a 13 to 12 victory of the University of Kentucky Freshman baseball team in a game with the Irvine High school of that city Tuesday. The Big Green team held a 9 to 0 lead at the beginning of the fourth inning but soon began to slip from their lead. Ellis was relieved on the mound by Aldridge who was forced to yield five runs in the fifth inning before the frosh could re-establish their defense. Each team counted a home run but the Greenies were disallowed theirs because Kreuter failed to touch third base when he rounded the circuit.

With the scalps of The Kentucky School for the Deaf, M. M. I. and Irvine hanging from their belts, the undefeated freshman baseball nine at the University is rapidly getting into condition for return games with the defeated teams.

The boys have been showing lots of pep and enthusiasm on Stoll field and the way they are swatting the old pill and taking in the hot ones makes it look like someone's ball club is coming to lots of grief.

The revamped lineup is working to perfection and the boys are looking better every day. With Carney "Wild Bill" Luther and Engles performing like big leaguers in the outfield and Tucker, Krauter, Hogue, and Worthington taking care of the infield, it looks like Ellis and Lavin will have little fear for lack of good support.

Other men who have been showing up well in practice and who will get chances to do their stuff in the remaining games are Shields, Aldridge, Kaemffe, Fry, and Gilbert. The big green outfit this year is said to be one of the best freshman ball clubs ever to represent Kentucky, and some of these boys are going to offer plenty of stiff competition to old varsity men next spring.

Wildcats, Bearcats to Tangle Here Monday; First Game Was Tied

The Wildcat baseball team will continue its dispute with the Bearcat nine of Cincinnati U. on Stoll field Monday afternoon. The first game, played on Cincinnati's home lot, ended in a 3 to 3 deadlock after 13 innings of real college baseball. McMurray hurled the first six frames and was relieved by Captain Rhodes the Cat's star moundsman.

Rhodes probably will be elected to start Monday's tilt with "Barney" Barnes receiving his slants behind the bat. Barnes' sprained wrist and Murphy's bad knee have put them on the hospital list but they will, in all probability, see action against the Ohio nine on "wash day." The Big Blue have played 11 games to date, winning five, losing five and halving one.

There has been a slight change in the lineup. Mauser has been shifted to the outer gardens, his place being taken by Kruger. Paul McBrayer probably will don the mitt on first base. "Stew" Augustus has been transferred from relief catcher to the second sack where he has been showing up in a goodly fashion. Louis Toth, the South Bend product, has been alternating with Augustus at second. Kruger will handle the "hot corner" and Urbanik will hold down his old position at short. The fly chasing sextet consists of Kellogg, Murphy, Troit, Kelly, Ohr and Mauser.

RHODES IN DUAL ROLE
Captain Rhodes is one of the few pitchers that has the distinction of being one of the leading hitters of his club. His batting has been one of the features of the Cat offense. Coach Devereaux has developed "Red" Howard into a dependable relief pitcher. Howard held the St. Xavier Tigers scoreless in the last three innings of Monday's game. There has been much complaint concerning the poor condition of the infield due to the lack of rain and many errors are attributed to the rough ground.

Raymond Rhodes collected two singles and a home run to carry off honors of the day as the Wildcats defeated the St. Xavier Tigers 16 to 4, on the home lot last Monday. The visitors never seriously threatened the Kentuckians after the second inning although they countered twice in the fifth frame. Coach Devereaux used 14 men in the raggedly

PLEASURES PRICE IS HEAVY PENALTY

"Two by two ye sin, but ye must pay one by one."

One of the worlds greatest poets wrote that line and voiced a truth that all men and women know. And well might the author of "The Face That Kills," coming to the Ada Meade Theater Tuesday for a four day run, have had that line in mind. A country boy, fresh and eager with the joy of living, comes to a big city, and there he meets a girl. Together they follow the road that leads to pleasure's palaces, only to find that they are following the pace that kills. Two by two they have travelled the pace but one by one they have paid for it.

Thus in a few words is told a thrillingly, dramatic story that is made in vivid, flashing scenes on the screen in "The Face That Kills." And for the role of the girl—the producers of this picture, which has aroused ministers, public and educators to a new realization of life's dangers for the young, chose that little beauty, Virginia Royce, whose astounding work in the "Road To Ruin" raised her to immediate stardom.

FROSH TO MEET RATS SATURDAY

Potter's Big Green Thinlies Expect to Add Scalp of Tennessee Freshmen to Totem Pole

The Kitten track team will hold a telegraphic meet with the Tennessee Rats Saturday at 3 o'clock on Stoll field. The Big Green defeated Georgetown frosh, 74 to 44, in their only meet so far this year. Sam Tuttle has been one of the outstanding performers on the yearling squad. He has been hurling the discus in a likable manner and expects to set a new state record in Saturday's meet.

"COOZY" CLASSY COASTER

In the 100-yard dash, "Cozy" Foster, of Nicholasville, has had things his own way, but Goodman may toe the line as the starter's pistol barks tomorrow. Baker is teamed with Foster in the 220-yard dash and Milliken pairs up with Skinner in the quarter mile. In the half mile, Milliken has a worthy aid in Watts of Indiana. Maddox handles the mile, while Darnell may be assisted by Milliken in the two-mile event. Baker and the two Henderson lads, Emmerich and Hirsch, scamper over the 220-yard low hurdles. The high hurdles are handled by Baker, Emmerich and Clark.

Mulligan and Foster are the altitude jumpers and Hubbell and Ed Turley occupy the spot light in the pole vault. Foster and Longmier have been trying to set new glider records in the broad jump. Big Frank Seale has been vying with Bill Luther for the shot-put honors. Goodwin and Tracey heave the javelin, while Tuttle, Luther and Tracey occupy the discus booth.

Coach "Peter" Potter has been trying to schedule another meet and an announcement to this effect may be made in the near future.

CURIOUS NEW ZEALAND SCHOOL HAS NEITHER HOUSE NOR GROUNDS

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—The most curious school in New Zealand has neither school house nor playground though its pupils have the use of playing fields far larger than those of ordinary schools. It is a school whose pupils are scattered over the country, in lonely farms, in shepherds' cottages, and at remote light-houses. Look, for example, at an isolated sheep station known to your correspondent. The comfortable house, 20 miles from the nearest town, connected by a road that is difficult in winter, stands on a knoll commanding a magnificent view of a river valley whose bush-clad slopes stretch away into the distance. In one direction can be seen the beautiful white cone of Egmont; in another the snows of Rauapehu. The family live amid beauty, but beauty does not compensate for the lack of a school. The mother, who was educated at a high school, teaches her children amid the many duties of a station owner's wife. Good domestic help is not easy to obtain. But she gets a great deal of teaching help from the correspondence school that the Education Department has established.

The family, however, is more fortunate than many. The parents have had a secondary education—what a mistake it is to suppose that higher education is valuable only in the town—and they can afford such aids as gramophone records in French, and their house is full of books. Conceive what the postal teaching means to other isolated homes, where the parents struggle to make a bare living and used to feel their poverty all the more sharply because there was no school near enough for the children to attend. Large areas of New Zealand are still wild.

Goes to 800

It was to meet the case of such families that in 1922 the Education Department established, as an experiment, its correspondence school. Provision was made for 20 to 40 pupils, but this year there are over 700 pupils in the primary section, and about 100 in the secondary department. The education is free, except that parents are required to buy the necessary class books and stationery, which can be supplied at city prices. The school is conducted by a head master and several assistants, who set work regularly for the pupils and when the answers are submitted correct them.

The primary curriculum consists of reading, writing, recitation, spelling, composition, grammar, arithmetic, drawing, geography, history and civics, and needlework. The secondary subjects include Latin, agriculture, handicrafts, algebra, and bookkeeping.

The scheme has proved a great success. Parents willingly co-operate with the department and pupils look forward to the coming of the mail with the exercises and answers. Perhaps a boy in an outlying shepherd's house rides miles to get the mail, or it is brought to the light-house in the government steamer and put ashore in a surfboat. "As we live 30 miles from a post office the postman does not come to our door," says one child in a composition. "Once a week the grocer brings the mail to our nearest neighbor's place, 15 miles away. Even then we do not get it every week. Sometimes Daddy is too busy to go and sometimes the river is too high to cross. If anyone happens to come up and see us, they will call in and ask for our mail. What a rush for it when it comes! Dad looks for business letters, Mum for English letters, Pat and I for the parcels, which we open. I also like to get returned lessons to read, the nice letters teacher sends to me and see if she thinks I have worked well. We all love mail day."

High Standard

The work is inspected in the ordinary way and has been reported upon very favorably. "A high standard of work is maintained," says the Reflections while roaming: It makes one feel foolish to wear evening clothes to a formal opening when the majority are attired in anything from knickers to pajamas. The lobby sign painters insist on spelling words wrong and getting names twisted. "The Arizona Kid" was a disappointment. Those flood-lights make the Strand's front look mighty good at night. Wonder how long it will be before we have commercial television? The attempts of electricians at the Kentucky to improve upon technicolor by bringing up the stage lights to intervals are indeed crude.

Rumor has it that Clara Bow will be let out by Paramount when her contract expires next January. From her work in "Paramount On Parade," otherwise a good picture, last report of the department, "and pupils from this school can successfully compete with others in secondary schools. A fine spirit of co-operation has been engendered, pupils, parents and teachers working harmoniously to a common end."

Last year the school issued a magazine called The Postman, which no doubt will become an institution. This attractively printed journal contained articles, stories and verse by pupils and ex-pupils which threw interesting light on back-blocks conditions. There was also a section devoted to the doings of ex-pupils. This is part of the policy of creating a corporate spirit among the pupils of this widely scattered school. Pupils in the secondary department are supplied with a list of all pupils and are invited to note the they are grouped into classes just as if they were in a city school. It is suggested to boys and girls that they should write to other boys and girls and so establish friendships. A library of standard books is maintained for the use of pupils.

The teachers have their reward in the appreciation of pupils and parents. The correspondence school is doing something practical to check that drift to the cities which is beginning to cause anxiety in this sparsely populated young country.

Numerous queries have been registered about a co-starring talking picture for Marie Dressler and Polly Morgan. "Caught Short" (MGM), opening at the Ben Ali Sunday, is the answer. This is said to be a hilarious comedy of the stock market. Anita Page and Charles Morton are seen in support of the stars and the production was directed by Edward Sedgwick and was adapted from Eddie Cantor's book published soon after the stock market crash last fall. "Caught Short" should be excellent entertainment of the broad comedy order.

—TLR—

It is gratifying to note that "The Love Parade" will be brought back next Wednesday and Thursday. The State theater will play the picture and I look forward to seeing it again.

—TLR—

"The Light of Western Stars," one of the very few Zane Grey novels that I have read, has been filmed and it opens at the Kentucky tomorrow. The cast includes Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Regis Toomey, and Harry Green and the picture was made out of doors. Of course that is no great feat now but Paramount is touting the fact heavily. It seems that we must have western pictures to satisfy somebody.

—TLR—

Several universities now have courses taught entirely through the medium of the talking picture. You don't have to laugh at the prof's jokes under this system and neither will he catch you asleep.

Remember "Dressed to Kill" a few years ago? Remember the flawless performance of Edmund Lowe as the gentleman of the underworld in it—"Born Reckless" (Fox) opens at the Strand Sunday and has Lowe in a similar role. John Ford, maker of "Men Without Women," directed "Born Reckless" and the supporting cast includes Marguerite Churchill, Catherine Dale Owen, and Frank Albertson. Lowe is cast as an underworld king and the plot is reported to be intriguing. This is an extremely new picture and the Strand is getting it before it is nationally released, a print being forwarded directly from the film laboratory here instead of through the exchanges. This is the second instance of this kind in one week as "The Arizona Kid" was shown at the Ben Ali under the identical conditions. "Born Reckless" should be worth seeing as Edmund Lowe's performance is almost sure to be impeccable.

Millions of Tiny Barriers say—

RUST SHALL NOT PASS

Why doesn't rust eat into Reading Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron Pipe, as it does into ordinary pipe? A microscope will tell you—and more than eighty years of experience will furnish the proof! For, throughout the structure of Reading 5-Point Pipe, millions of silicious barriers say "Stop" to corrosion.

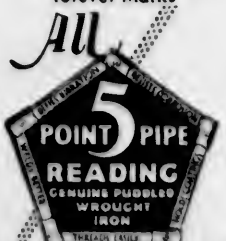

Puddling—the time-tested way of making the original, Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron—distributes this silicious element so uniformly that rust can't find a loophole. That's why it is important to insist on getting Reading Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron, known for generations. Our name and indented spiral mark protect you.

When you install Reading 5-Point Pipe, you are sure that pipe maintenance costs will be practically nothing during the entire life of your building! Remember, too, that the initial cost of Reading 5-Point Pipe is only slightly higher than that of cheap, unsatisfactory pipe.

Plan of Rafinesque Results In Gardens

tucky coffee-tree, dog woods, linden, and sugar maples, the visitor wanders until he comes to a small stream of water. A spring is trickling from the boulders, its water rushing carelessly down the hillside to form two pools where lilies and other water plants are blooming. The nearby area always damp and marshy, contains many species of ferns and other types of plants that requires that kind of soil.

The idea of a botanic garden for Lexington and for Kentucky was originated something over a century ago by Rafinesque, one of the greatest of American naturalists and later the professor of botany at Transylvania. He obtained ten acres of land on east Main street near the present C. & O. railroad crossing. Lack of support from the townspeople, however, caused this plan to be abandoned. The Garden Club of Lexington in cooperation with Doctor McVey and other University of Kentucky officials is responsible for the present progress that has been made in the Garden's development.

Some discouragement was encountered by the proponents of the Kentucky Botanic Garden during the embryonic stage of its existence due to the carelessness and thoughtfulness of children and visitors to the campus. Many times the plants were broken or robbed of their flowers, while some species which were nearly impossible to replace, were totally destroyed. In addition to this, many labels besides the various plants were pulled up, destroyed, or lost, causing extra time and expense to identify again and remark them. However, signs throughout the garden have aided in remedying this condition and desecrations on the beauty of the Garden are seldom encountered now.

The plans for the Garden were drawn by Harry Lindbergh, former landscape gardener at the University, who spent much time on this project and in soliciting contributions for its development. His efforts were augmented by assistance from President McVey and Maury Crutcher, superintendent of building and grounds, and rapid strides were made toward obtaining the desired goal. The actual management of the Garden is now in the hands of a committee from the Lexington Garden Club and one from the University faculty. The Garden Club committee is composed of Miss Carrie Lee Hathaway, Miss Mary Robinson, Mrs. Edward Clark, Mrs. Spencer Brooker, Mrs. J. F. Van Deren, and Mrs. McVey. The University committee is made up of Miss Mary Didiak, chairman, Professor Olney, Professor Gorman, Professor McFarlan, Mr. Eugene Simpson, Mrs. Lavery, Professor Baileau, and Mr. Crutcher. J. A. Rominger is the present gardener.

The Garden has drawn, within the last two years, many visitors from all over the state and from distant points. The annual Garden Club days which are promoted by the Lexington group and similar organizations in other towns find many interested nature-lovers inspecting the Kentucky Garden. Its further development under continued support, both actual and in interest, from these clubs will make it one of the most valuable institutions in the state. It will be of immeasurable benefit to students of botany, horticulture, and art. It will be the subject of many lectures and broadcasting programs, the object of field trips, and the means of plant and seed distribution. The possibilities of Kentucky's Botanic Garden are unlimited.

Authors Win Praise With 'Table d' Hote'

Glen Baylor, as Gary Hamilton, heroic poet and gentleman, delivers a good performance in spite of forgotten lines. At times we feared that he would revert to his villainous character in "East Lynne" but he quickly recovered to a smooth personality.

Kenneth McIntyre and Virginia McVey enact their respective roles in capable fashion as do Dorothy Martin, Mary Sidney Hobson, Martin Glenn, Horace Miner and Delroy Root. John Noonan provides a target for the charms of Miss Lowry in a highly commendable manner.

The stage craftsmen, Thomas Lyons, Julian Leffler, Alexander Bruce, and Robert Newton accomplish wonders with the setting and lighting.

Co-author Fowler also directed the piece and, aside from a certain uneven quality, it moves with precision.

"Table d'Hote" is the fifth and last presentation of the 1929-30 Guignol season. We credit the season with one moderate success, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," three hits, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," "East Lynne," and "Table d'Hote" and one failure, "Peer Gynt." The reception given each play by the audience has been the principal gauge used in the classification of the five presentations as all of them reflect quality in their production.

cargo will be returned to the city, but we have been told that in case we have any loved ones making the tour, we might expect them back any time between 6 o'clock and midnight, according to how soon the travelers can be rounded up from their various and sundry hiding places among the hills and vales and up the river.

The naturalists are to spend the day in studying the topography of the country as seen from the bridge, the rocks found about the neighboring hills and the plant life. The remainder of the time will be given to the students to dispose of as they will. Some perhaps will go swimming, others boating and still others will hide themselves among quiet, shady nooks.

The naturalists will be accompanied by several members of the geology and botany departments, among whom will be Professors McFarlan, McIntyre, and Robinson, Miss Mary Lewis Marvin and B. T. Sandefur.

Annual Play Day to Be Held Saturday

The groups will be led by Miss Myra Dee Rice, Frances Barker, Louise Tilton, Pauline Back, Sue Head and Gladys Garnett. University of Kentucky alumnae and former students visiting physical education instructors and students will officiate.

The program for the banquet includes addresses by Mrs. Frank L. McVey; Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, assistant dean of women; Miss Rebecca Averill, director of women's athletics; and Elizabeth Skinner, this year's president of the athletic association.

Announcement of officers of the organization for 1930-31 and awards of letters, numerals and W. A. A. pins will be made. There will be several tap dances and the women's tumbling team will give a performance.

Sigma Pi Sigma To be Installed at U.K., May 15

The requirements for membership to this fraternity will be measured by the type of work done by the students of the physics department. Final arrangements have already been made for the formal installation.

Officers for the new fraternity are H. M. Sullivan, Lexington, president; W. L. Rast, Charleston, S. C., vice-president; E. W. Kirk, Philpot, secretary; and F. L. Yost, Punxsutawney, Pa., treasurer.
